The Spelling Reform.

The Home Journal, of New York, and the Utica (N. Y.) Herald have joined the Chicago Tribune in introducing the improved method of spelling recommended by the American Philological Association.

The Tribune now fights its old political enemy under the diminished guise of a "demagogic," throws the rig of its protection over the "pedagogic," abbreviates the "pedagogic" to meet the requirements of a fast age, promises to extend the "catalog" of its editions in the future, and thus takes at a step one of the highest seats in the phonetic "synagogue." It compresses its proceedings into a "program."

The Northern Pacific Road.

One of the marvels of the present boom in prices is the rise of the stock of the Northern Pacific railroad. There are many persons—at least there have been many—within the bounds of the INTELLIGENCER's circulation—who subscribed to the bonds of this road before the panic, and who are now perforce holders of the common and preferred stock. This stock—(particularly the common)—has risen from zero up to commanding figures, and promises to go higher. Those who profess to know say that the road is a good property and will be a great line when finished.

Speaking of this stock, we may remark that it is estimated by a New York paper that the advance in railway shares up to last week aggregated an increased value compared with the prices a year ago of $221,012,040. Of this amount $18,480,000 is credited to Northern Pacific preferred and $6,000,000 to the common; $11,033,467 to Erie common and $1,850,118 to the preferred; $7,080,000 to St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern preferred and $2,850,000 to the common; $3,298,000 to Kansas Pacific; $4,169,000 to Wabash; $6,750,000 to North-western; St. Paul common $5,544,000 and preferred $2,540,000; $4,600,000 Rock Island, etc., etc. It is indeed no exaggeration to say that if the advance in bonds and stock are taken together, it will be found that the market value of the railways of the United States is to-day fully five hundred million more than it was on Jan. 1, 1879.

PARKERSBURG.

PARKERSBURG, Sept. 22, 1879.

Your correspondent arrived in this city on yesterday morning, the 21st, coming by way of the sand and gravel route to the steamer Service. This place assumes to itself the dignity of being the second city in the State. One thing I notice in looking around here, and that is, that at the least three-fourths of the town presents an appearance of general dilapidation. This town needs paint, and if that is too expensive white wash if properly applied would be a benefit. Nevertheless the citizens are a whole-souled, sociable people.

This morning the United States Circuit Court, for the District of West Virginia commences its regular Fall Term. A large criminal docket for violations of the revenue is to be disposed of.

I notice quite a number of gentlemen from the upper or northwestern part of the State here as grand and petit jurors, among whom are Mr. Belmont Wells and Anthony Smith, from Tyler county, on the grand jury, and Mr. J. E. Israel, of Marshall county; Capt. Wm. M. Powell, Sheriff of Tyler county, and Mr. W. P. Esley, also of Tyler county, as petit jurors. Judge Bond is not here, but it is supposed he will be here to-morrow, the 23rd inst.

The colored population of this place are all at Marietta, O., to-day, attending the Emancipation celebration.

There was a large animal show and circus here on last Saturday which attracted a large crowd of people, also some horses, three of whom set on one of the showmen and beat him to death. They are now in jail. There must be considerable lawlessness here as the State Circuit Court has been in session some six weeks and has not reached the civil docket yet.

A Word to Ohio Republicans.

Editor Intelligencer.

That the conviction has fully possessed the Ohio Democratic mind that Ewing is already more than defeated, there can be no doubt. Ewing goes about the State, his virtuous cheeks furrowed with the resistless currents of tears that go dashing down his face like great cascades, over the sorrows, privations and oppressions of the idle workmen, and prostrate industries of the land, while the working men sing of happy homes, well-filled larders, fair wages and brighter prospects, as they puddle their iron and look down into the roaring furnaces.

What then, in the face of the buoyant business prospects, is the aim of the persistent effort of the Democracy in Ohio. Not that Tom Ewing can possibly be elected, but that they may thus publicly hoodwink and divert the people's eyes from a "still hunt" they obtain the real prize, which they are laboring, viz: the U. S. Senatorship.

In anticipation of the Legislature being Democratic, for which alone they are working, Allen G. Thurman is exhibiting himself about at country fairs and towns in doubtful counties. Such was the secret of his visit to Belmont county the past week, and not to help Ewing, with whom he is at bitter enemy, but to help himself. There is no doubt that the entire party machinery, under Jonckhe Thompson (Thurman's henchman and a mortal enemy of Ewing's) is now being employed to carry the State for Ewing, and the danger is that Republicans, feeling fully convinced of Foster's election, may overlook the more important duty of securing the Legislature.
